

Interim Executive Director

Canadian Heavy Oil Association

The Canadian Heavy Oil Association is seeking an Interim Executive Director to ready the Association for its next stage of development. With over 1400 members, CHOA is a successful association that provides a technical, educational and social forum for people working in the heavy oil and oil sands industries.

Continued growth of the Association, and the decision to shift to a policy governance model of Board leadership, necessitate the retention of the Association's first executive director. The successful candidate will provide leadership, focus and energy to the Board, volunteers and staff of CHOA during this important period in the Association's life.

This position will appeal to the talented senior professional who is seeking a 12 month, flexible engagement to provide leadership services without making a multiyear commitment. The successful candidate will bring the confidence and capabilities essential to leading a membership-based association through a significant process of change while ensuring quality services continue to be delivered.

The position is based in Calgary. A full position description can be obtained at http://www.thecentrepoint.ca/pdf/job_posting_choa.pdf and questions can be directed to cayly.dixon@thecentrepoint.ca.
